About 10 o'clock they note their entertainers in blue strolled round in small parties and visited the annulactories and points of interest in the ty. Large numbers visited Clark's works at became greatly interested in watching to movement of the looms. They were newn the manner in which spool cotton is smulactured. Many went through Jeder's factory examining the process of aking trunks.

A VERY PLEASANT EPISODE.

A VERY PLEASANT EPISODE.

A very pleasant episode of to-day's proceedings was one not set down on the bills. It was gotten up entirely by the members of the Richmond Blues. At noon to-day a delegation of the Blues visited Milliary Park, under the leadership of Captain Pizzini, and proceeded to the Kearny statue, where they placed a superb star, composed of roses and other choice flowers, upon the statue of the hero—each member of the company lifting his cap as a mark of respect as this was done. This act was very quietly and unostentationally performed, and was witnessed but by few, but those who saw it regarded it as the most beautiful and touching incident that has occurred aince the southerners' arrival here.

AN HISTORIC KEY. A particularly-pleasing event was the presentation by Mayor Haynes to Captain Epps, of R. E. Lee Camp, of the key to General R. E. Lee's house. The key was taken from the house-door on Arington Heights during a raid of the First New Jersey three-months' men, under Major Olds. The relic was accepted by Captain Epps in a neat speech, and will be placed in the cabinet of the Camp on their return to Richmond.

A reception was given the visitors toaight at Hallentine's Brewery, and a sumptuous collation was served.

The majority will leave for Richmond

The July Report Relative to the Condition of the Crops.

(Ex telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Washington, D. C., July 10.—The report of the Department of Agriculture for July relative to cotton represents that rains have been excessive during June over the entire breadth, the temperature low, plants too succulent and generally late for the season. In some piaces almost daily rains have occurred for two or three weeks; the fields are necessarily grassy. In some cases plants are smothered and the aphis is becoming abundant. The averages are: Virgina, 57; North Carolina, 87; South Carolina, 83; Georgia, 90; Florids, 99; Alabama, 63; Mississippi, 83; Louisiana, 74; Texas, 80; Arkansas, 86; Tennessee, 80.

The area in corn has increased about 2 per cent. The total area will be between sixty-nine and seventy millions acres. A few States report a decrease. A comparison of the area with last year is as follows in the principal States: New York, 97; Pennsylvania, 100; Ohio, 102; Michigan, 102; Kentucky, 100; Tennessee, 101; Indians, 102; Illinois, 100; Iowa, 105; Missouria, 102; Kansas, 101. The season has been favorable for planting and growth, except that large districts have had too much rain and the growth has been slow from low temperature. The crop is now generally healthy in color and growing rapidly.

The average of the condition is 96, and (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

A Sad Revelation

A Sad Revelation.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

CINCINNAT, July 10.—The painful discovery has been made that the late W. R. McGill, president of the Cincinnati and Eastern railroad, who came to his death last week by failing from the door of the baggage-car to the bottom of the trestle near Winehester, has been raising money by fraudulent practices. This gives color to the theory that his death was suicide. He had been in easy circumstances, but by his connection with the railroad he had been much embarrassed. A number of notes purporting to have been given to him, on which he obtained momey, have been discovered not to be genuine. An investigation is now in progress. It is thought the total amount will reach above $20,000, mostly among neighbors not able to bear the loss. McGill has been a man of excellent reputation.

The Printers' Strike in Toronto.

Toronto, July 10.—The managers of the Matt say they now have a full complement of non-timon printers, having secured hirtern to-day from Rochester and Buffalo. The Globe managers claim that they also have a sufficient force. The strikers' pickets are still watching these offices.

Collection of His Deawings—His Art as Compared with That of Leech.

There are brought together at the rooms of the Fine Art Society, says the London Standard, a collection of between two and three hundred drawings by Mr. George Ou Maurier. Most of them are the originals of now familiar wood-cuts in Pench, and we are glad of this, for, on the whole, these are the things that represent Mr. Du Maurier the best. He has done much other work. Some of it has appeared continuously in a mouthly magazine, but this has been the work of illustrating the conceptions of other people, and Mr. Du Maurier is least happy when his pencil is at the service of an imagination, not only not his own, but often in little sympathy with his own. His is by no means a talent that can easily identify itself with that of another. Crunkshank was at one with Harrison Ainsworth; Hablot Browne was entirely at one with Dickens; each novelist had in the artist who attended him a perfect flustrator. But Du Maurier, when he illustrates, is often anything but periect. He ceases to be himself, or is only his most mannered self; the spirit, the quality, has too much gone out of him. He is far too original in his vision of life and character to place himself in ready union with the last chance success of a writer of romance. He does himself justice only when he invents his subject, or, at the least, only when his subject is invented by somebody who understands the artist for whom the theme ts is to be found. Mr. Du Maurier has too distinct a message of his own to deliver—that mes-

Hearing the twigs snapping near him, he supposed the noise was made by a deer, and thinking he saw if he raised his rifle, took aim and fired, after which he pushed through the brush and was horrified to find Mr. May lying on his back on the marshy ground. There was a terrible wound in the unfortunate man's neck. Tomiluson tried to arouse his friend, but inding that he was dead he rain out and found Mr. Trautman, and both men hurried to the town, where the news created the deepest feeling of sadness and regret. He believed that the spirit of his victim

In the year 1860 deferson Davis of Mississippi. Robert Toombs of Georgia, and R. M. T. Hunter of Virginia, were members of the United States Senate, and not only its three most influential members, but eminent southern leaders. Each represented a State which claimed and exercised a weighty influence in the national council, and as they belonged to the then dominant party, and were champions of the theories that rested on slavery, they possessed an authority which, in the present changed condition of things, it is difficult to comprehend. The political sky wore a troubled look in the spring of 1860. The John Brown raid at Harper's Ferry had recently taken place, showing RILLED BY A RECKLESS MAN.
